WILL SOON LEAVE FRANCE

According to a letter received in Wilmington, the 59th Pioneers will leave Brest within a week and will be back by the first week in June.

Eugene J. Shields, a member of the supply company of the 59th Pioneers, has written a letter dated April 29, to his brother, Daniel F. Shields, of Wilmington, stating that his organization has turned in all their horses and equipment and that he believes the 59th Pioneers will sail from Brest on May 20.

In previous letters Shield wrote his brother that he would write nothing about returning to this country until he had definite information to that effect.

According to this information, residents of this State who expect to welcome the home coming Pioneers on their return will have to get busy. It is expected that further definite information about the return will be made by the authorities in Washington.

Mrs. J. Warner Reed, wife of Colonel Reed, who is in command of the Pioneers, said the last letter received from her husband was dated April 21, and in this letter, her husband wrote that the Regiment was cleaning up and was expecting to get word at any time to move towards home. He said that all their movements indicated that they would embark in a short time for home.

DENIES MOTOR COMBINE

In answer to the recent unauthentic reports that there was a possibility of a combine of The Nash Motors Company with several other big companies in the motor car industry comes the statement from Mr. C. W. Nash, president of The Nash Motors Company, Kenosha, Wisconsin, which eliminates any possibility of a merger such as has been recently reported in the press.

In an interview with Mr. Nash he said "The reports of a consolidation in the motor car industry which includes the Nash Motors Company are not founded on facts. There is no possibility of the Nash Motors Company becoming a subsidiary of any other company in the motor car industry."

"Like all other great industries, the automobile business is narrowing down to the survival of the fittest," said Mr. Nash. "Day after day there are mergers reported.

"I have no criticism of this tendency but I would like to have it definitely understood that nothing could induce The Nash Motors Company to enter into merger. Should it become advisable or expedient, we would go into the field for other plants but in that event the resulting expansion would be under the control of The Nash Motors Company.

"In this connection I might say there are three factors necessary to permanency in the motor car business, good financing, a good factory and a good organization. It follows that a good product would be the result.

"We feel that The Nash Motors Company possesses all three of these essential factors and that, therefore, our expansion depends simply on our own energy and is not in any way dependent on a combination with other well established companies."

Because of Mr. Nash's twenty-seven years experience in manufacturing and because of the record he holds as one of the world's foremost manufacturers, there have been frequent rumors of consolidations. Apparently, however, the latest reports are not well founded for, as Mr. Nash states, "if they were based on fact I would take the public into my confidence and would be the first to make an announcement."

Killed By Shell

An official telegram was received here Tuesday evening by C. Richard Manlove, from Adjutant-General Harris of the War Department notifying him of the death of his son, Corporal Davis H. Manlove, in France on April 28:

Young Manlove was a member of Company K, 59th Pioneers, and was one of the very first of the boys of the vicinity of Middletown to volunteer his services for his country.

From letters received here during the past week, it is understood that Manlove met his death while engaged with the Pioneers in salvage work. According to a letter written by a young man to his parents in Odessa, Corporal Manlove was removing a detonator from a "dud" shell, when it exploded, killing him, and wounding several others.

Manlove was a general favorite here with young and old, and there is much sadness over his untimely end.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Many Condensed News Items of the Past Week

IN THIS AND NEARBY POINTS

Asparagus is plentiful but prices remain high.

The seventeen-year locusts are due this week, but the cool weather may delay them a few days. It is interesting to watch them dig their way out of the ground, climb a tree or fence, and shed their shells.

Messrs. W. D. Bradford, H. B. Bradford and William Price asked that the road in Middle Neck, 1 5-8 miles be repaired, and offered to pay one-half of the expense. The Commissioners accepted the proposition.

Strawberries are beginning to come into the markets in Sussex county, and are being sold for 25 cents the quart box. With warm suns this week several crates are expected to be shipped to the city markets, but the crop will not be on, so that cars may be loaded, for possibly another week.

E. M. Records & Company, fruit and vegetable canners of Blackbird, have purchased from John Heldmyer, of Middletown, the farm of 169 acres, now tenanted by Auly Hill and adjoining the cannery property. The terms are private. The land was formerly of the estate of the late Colen Ferguson.

Very little interest was shown in the election at Townsend last Saturday for Town Commissioners to serve two years, when a small vote was cast. James A. Hart and John S. Lattomus were elected without opposition to succeed themselves, and Walter Lee was chosen to succeed Dr. Jerome D. Niles, who was not a candidate for re-election.

The campaign for $150,000 in the State of Delaware as part of the national campaign of the Salvation Army for $13,000,000 was started on Monday. From every part of the State expression of good will, offers of support a many subscriptions have come to ca paign headquarters in Wilmington well as to the various chairmen in t different counties.

Farmers are finding difficulty in g ting corn planted as the ground is t wet and teams cannot be used upon Many acres are yet to be plowed f corn. Some who planted co n befc the rain set in find that the grains a in a rotten condition and many acı will have to be replanted. The rain, is explained, came before the grai had sprouted and were thus caused rot.

EGGS WILL BE HIGH

What is described as the largest egg-pack in the history of this country is going on at present, according to dealers, and therein is found the explanation for the present high price of eggs as well as for statements made in certain ci cles that eggs will retail at a dollar a dozen in the fall.

Eggs should be retailing at between 30 and 35 cents a dozen, according to the dealers, if supply and demand were fixing the price. As it is, it is said, big interests are buying up all of the eggs to be had and packing them away in cold storage, preparatory to the fall and winter demand, when the price will be fixed at the highest point, it is said, that the public will stand.

The egg lay, according to country reports, throughout the spring has been exceptionally large. Yet the quantity of fresh eggs reaching the retail market from the country is below normal. This is pointed to by dealers as evidence of the packing buy and as substantiating the reports from ths West that all available eggs are being bought for storage.

Rhodes—Lockerman Wedding

Mr. George Kenneth Rhodes, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Rhodes, of Odessa, and Miss Kathryn Bomann Lockerman, of Wilmington, were quietly married at the M. E. Parsonage, by Rev. V. P. Northrup, Tuesday evening. The couple were attended by Mr. William Roemer and Miss Oka Wallace also of Odessa.

New Movie Theatre

The new Virginian Theatre under the management of Mr. B. G. Smith opened its doors to the public last Saturday evening, and every available seat in the new theatre was occupied, at both of the performances. Mr. Smith had been making arrangements for his opening night during the week and everything seemed to be in accord with his wishes other than the curtain which had to be painted during the day and this caused the pictures to be slightly dim. This obstacle has since been remedied and his two productions on Monday and Thursday evenings were pronounced first-class.

His program for to-night and the coming week will be found in the advertising columns of The Transcript and embraces such well-known pictures as: "Such a Little Pirate;" "The Source;" "Heart of the Wilds;" "True Blue;" "Come On In." with the famous Mutt and Jeff Comedies.

ROGATION DAYS

May 26th, 27th, 28th, are Rogation Days, being the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday before Ascension Day. Their name signifies supplication, and they have been kept by the church as days of fasting and prayer since the middle of the fifth century. At that time Mamercus, Bishop of Vienne, in France, fearing that disasters were about to befall his diocese, appointed these days to be observed with litanies and penitence, to appease the wrath of God, and turn aside His judgments. The design in observing them is to prepare us for the feast of the Ascension, to pray for God's mercy to protect us from all calamities, and for His blessing upon the fruits of the field. "Ask, and it shall be given you." St. Matthew VII:7.

Thursday being Ascension Day (Holy Thursday, see prayer book, page XXIV) there will be service of Holy Communion at 10.30.

THE ASCENSION DAY

"And it came to pass while He blessed them, He was parted from them, and carried up into Heaven." St. Luke XXIV:51.

The last day of our Lord's dwelling on earth had come. For forty days since His resurrection He had lingered near, appearing to one and another, "by the wayside," and "as they sat at meat" whenever He saw their sinking courage and wavering faith, with divine comfort He blessed them. At the appointed time He is borne on a cloud, far beyond their longing gaze and straining their eyes they tried to behold the last gleams of His glory.

With joy and praise the church celebrates this day always, for now is our hope made sure and perfect. The Ascension of Christ is the completion of His sacrifice, the consumation of His atonement, the fulfillment of all the promises.

We know now that our Lord has "gone to prepare a place for us, and where He is, thither we might also ascend and reign with Him in glory." And oh, what manner of lives should we lead in such an anticipation! How should we watch, and pray, and hope, and wait, for the day when He shall come again and receive us unto Himself. Let us pray that "we may also in heart and mind thither ascend, and with Him continually dwell," even in this our earthly home; so that each and all of us may stand ready and waiting when the message comes that "the Master hath need of us."

CLASS HATREDS THAT THROW PEOPLE INTO DISCORD MUST BE OVERCOME BY MAKING CHRISTIANITY WORLD WIDE

Chaplain Tiplady, Famous British Field Officer In France, Says Christian Forces Must Unite To Extend Gospel.

"Must Unite To Make Democracy We Won Safe For Entire World," Tiplady Asserted.

"The war will not be completely won until the enthusiasm and moral energy which wore down the Hun is applied to industry and Government, to man's social and spiritual relations, to the whole body of present-day problems, summed up in the one word—reconstruction."

Chaplain Thomas Tiplady, with the British forces in France, and now on a tour in the interests of the Methodist Centenary campaign, made this statement in a speech that thrilled his hearers, at a complimentary luncheon in Baltimore. Tiplady gave a warm tribute to the American soldier.

"We won in France and saved the world for humanity," Tiplady said, "but Americans and those of other lands, enlisted under the banners of Christianity, must now unite in a gigantic program to make the democracy for which we fought and won, safe for the entire world. Evils that would destroy these principles, class hatreds that tend to throw people and nations into discord, must be overcome by the extension to all parts of the earth of the principles of the brotherhood of man."

"The American soldier is one of the gamest fighters I ever saw," Tiplady said. "It was inspiring to us veterans who had gone through many bitter struggles in the Somme and other areas, when we saw the steady stream of chaps coming over from the States.

"Your boys came to put new blood and energy in the Allied fighting calibre, just at a time when it was a case of life or death to check the unonrush of the German hordes. Through many campaigns Americans were side by side with us, battling for the cause that was sure to triumph.

Tiplady has a vision of the new era,

as seen through the eyes of the man in the furnace of war.

Tiplady first won fame by remarkable uplift work in London.

His miraculous escapes from death provide a story that sounds like fiction. Tiplady believes that he has a message for the world.

"After the battle of Arras in 1917," he said, "I decided to stop sleeping in a dugout and risk a tent, six by five feet square, pitched in the open. While fast asleep one night a great shrapnel shell came from a German Howitzer eleven miles away and burst over head. Apparently it was a clean hit. Eleven bullets went through the tiney shelter top. The ground around the tent was swept by ragged fragments of the projectile. A box of books at my head was shattered, but I was not touched. At daybreak I found six of the eleven bullets." The fighting chaplain exhibited a couple of the bullets which he carries around along with other interesting souvenirs.

While stationed at the British base of Abbeville, toward which the Huns aimed their spring offensive a year ago, Tiplady stated he went through German air raids night after night, without suffering bodily harm. Tiplady said during these raids he slep flat upon the ground rolled in an army blanket.

Even A French War Orphan Will Smile On Occasion.

This One Has Found A Friend In The Methodist Orphanage At Grenoble.

"Smiles"—one of the fifty little French girls who have found a real home in the Methodist Episcopal Orphanage in Ecully, near Lyons, France.

This Orphanage was the former home of a Swiss painter who left hurriedly at the outbreak of the war, leaving $10,000 worth of paintings which will be sold for the kiddies.

In addition to the five orphanages the church already has in France and Italy others will be established very shortly. The Centenary movement of the Methodist Episcopal Church and Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is making a drive for $140,000,000 to rebuild the world and out of that a certain sum will be set aside to create homes for the fatherless children of France and Italy.

Sick In Foreign Lands To Be Aided.

To alleviate human suffering and cure disease through the extension of its great system of hospital centers now twenty-six in number, in countries where groups of millions of people are without adequate medical attention, the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church will spend $2,288,264 in building forty-five more hospitals and twenty-four dispensaries in foreign countries as a result of the Methodist Centenary Movement to raise $105,000,000 for world reconstruction.

Foreigners Must Be Americanized.

Riots and other disorders, in which anarchists of foreign birth have been ring leaders, have emphasized anew the importance of plans projected both by the church and State to reconstruct the foreigner, and make of him law-abiding citizen.

These disturbances have furnished full justification, if any more were needed, for the broad program put under way by the missionary Centenary of the Methodist Episcopal Church, calling for the expenditure of one-third of a million dollars during 1919 in the cause of Americanization.

State and church officials are in complete agreement upon the point that the foreigner must be given a knowledge of the fundamentals of American civilization, or else the future of America is in danger. Church leaders here who have tackled the problem in earnest, particularly stress the fact that Americans of the true blue type must jump to the forefront and stamp out whatever may exist here in the shape of Bolshevik propaganda.

Bishop William F. McDowell, one of the dynamic forces of Methodism in America, and a champion of the church movement to Americanize the foreigner, asserted that the malignant "Red" element will be routed from its strongholds in this country, if Christians band together for co-operation with Federal and State officials in teaching the alien American ideals.

The extent of the Methodist Centenary program, showing what this church organization alone, will do this year to instill American standards into the make-up of the foreign speaking type of American residents was disclosed by Bishop McDowell when he said that a fund aggregating $361,800 is available.

To alleviate human suffering and cure disease through the extension of its great system of hospital centers now twenty-six in number, in countries where groups of millions of people are without adequate medical attention, the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church will spend $2,288,624 in building forty-five more hospitals and twenty-four dispensaries in foreign countries as a result of the Methodist Centenary Movement to raise $105,000,000 for world reconstruction.

Father can wear one with dignity.

They are not too pert for a Director's Meeting, nor to pious for a Frat House reunion.

They add about three inches to a short man's height and something like 20 per cent more speed to a tall man's carriage.

By keeping the price down to $25 and $35 a Suit, we very naturally expect to master the local situation.

THE DAIRY

CLOVER FOR EARLY PASTURE

Highly Valued by Dairymen as Substitute for Silage and for Green Feed in Spring.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Excepting rye, crimson clover is the earliest pasture available in the spring in the Middle Atlantic states from New Jersey to North Carolina. Crimson clover is grown mostly for soil improving and for hay.

Crimson clover pasture is especially valuable for hogs and sheep, which relish this clover quite as much as they do red clover and alfalfa. It is highly valued by dairymen as a substitute for silage and as a means of obtaining green feed very early in the season. Many dairymen pasture their cows on crimson clover in order to save their silage for dry spells during the summer. An average acre of crimson clover furnishes day pasture for two or three cows and reduces the amount of silage that must be fed by about one-half.

Hogs, sheep and light cattle can be run on upland pastures throughout the winter and early spring except when snow is on the ground. Heavy cattle must not be turned on the fields when the ground is soft, although crimson clover is not injured by trampling as much as permanent blue grass sod. Crimson clover is not as likely to cause bloating as other clovers, but cattle, and especially young cattle, should not be allowed to graze when the clover is covered with frost.

DEFECTS IN BUTTER MAKING

Cooling Too Quickly or Working at Too Low Temperature Makes Butter Brittle.

Butter that possesses a perfect texture has a flinty appearance. If the grain is destroyed it is usually the result of overworking or of too high temperatures. Such butter has a weak, greasy body. Cooling too quickly or working at too low temperatures, makes butter brittle and crumbly. If milky brine is present, it shows the lack of thorough washing. Leaky butter results from lack of thorough incorporation of wash water through washing in a fine granular form with cold water, then working insufficiently. A dry body is due to excessive churning or high churning temperature.

PROVIDE CALF WITH SALT

Supply of Clean, Fresh Water, Always Available Is Another Simple Requisite.

By the time the dairy calf is old enough to eat roughage it should have either access to or small daily offerings of salt. Plenty of clean, fresh water, constantly available, is another simple and inexpensive requisite of good calf care that is too often neglected. Because a calf receives milk to drink is no reason why it does not require water. After the calf is two weeks old it needs water in small amounts at a time, though often.

NEW MILK FOR YOUNG CALVES

They Should Have It for First Two Weeks and Gradually Be Weaned to Skim Milk.

Young calves ought to have new milk for the first two weeks of their lives, then they can gradually be weaned from new milk to skim milk, and at three or four weeks of age you can take the skim milk away from them by substituting a combination of grains and hay, or any other dry forage that they will consume. Then gradually teach them to eat whole grain, like oats and corn, and give this to them extra besides their porridge.

Disputed Alfalfa Question.

When to sow alfalfa is a disputed question. Many people say sow in August, but some of the most successful growers sow the seed early in the spring.

Proper Feed for Cows.

Cows giving milk require more protein and carbonates than cows that are dry.

FREE HERD OF TUBERCULOSIS

Satisfactory Progress in Plan of Eradication Made During First Year of Work.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The tuberculosis-free accredited herd plan, inaugurated in December, 1917, and worked out in co-operation with the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, was slightly changed at the twenty-second annual meeting of the United States Live Stock Sanitary association held at Chicago in December. It was agreed to strike out the word "purebred" so as to admit to certification grade herds in addition to registered cattle.

The annual conference between representatives of the United States Live Stock Sanitary association and the Purebred Cattle Breeders' association resulted in the further indorsement of the tuberculosis eradication campaign and a recommendation that the work be extended as rapidly as possible.

The accredited-herd plan is to test cattle with tuberculin at the request of the owner, eliminate any reacting animals either by slaughter or by following prescribed sanitary measures, repeat the test at prescribed intervals, and list as tuberculosis-free accredited herds all herds entitled to that distinction.

Very satisfactory progress has been made during the first year of the work, and prospects for the future are bright. During the year 296 herds, comprising 9,284 cattle, have been fully "accredited" as free from tuberculosis, and 1,462 herds, having 35,052 cattle, passed one successful test in preparation for certification. In addition 4,622 herds, both purebred and grade, totaling 98,002 animals, have been under supervision for the eradication of tuberculosis. Each month additional herds are added to the list.

HEIFERS DROP FIRST CALF

According to Experiment Carried on at Maryland College Thirty Months Is Best Age.

About thirty months was found to be the best age for Ayrshire heifers to drop their first calf, according to an experiment carried on at the Maryland Agricultural college. If the calves were dropped six months earlier, the milk flow was lessened considerably, but if dropped six months later the decrease was slight. This will vary for the breeds according to size; the smaller the breed type, the shorter the time. Eckles of Minnesota found that this variation would be three to five months which would bring the minimum age for Jerseys and Guernseys about twenty-five months and for Holsteins, thirty months. This is for well-developed animals.

PASTEURIZED CREAM IS AID

It Yields More Uniform Article of Butter and Helps to Improve Keeping Qualities.

The relation of pasteurized cream to butter is now recognized as follows: It yields a more uniform product, aids in producing a higher scoring butter, improves its keeping qualities; avoids undesirable fermentations and gives protection from disease germs; overcomes questionable odors, increases value of skim milk and creates a steadier market. The slight increase in cost of production, per pound, when butter is made from pasteurized cream, is more than overcome by the benefits derived from this process.

CLEANLINESS IS IMPORTANT

Cows Should Be Milked in Small-Top or Covered Pail and All Utensils Sterilized.

It is important to keep cows clean and milk them in clean surroundings. Milk them in a small-top or covered pail. All utensils which come into contact with the milk should be thoroughly sterilized with steam for at least five minutes.

Usually Desirable Where Possible for Herd to Secure an Abundance of Good Pasture.

Where it is possible for the herd to secure an abundance of good feed on pasture throughout a considerable portion of the year, it is usually desirable to have the cows freshen in the spring in order that one may take advantage of the inexpensive feeds at the stage of lactation when the largest amount of nutrients in the ration must be supplied.

Quarter Million Dollars To Aid Soldier-Students.

More than 10,000 Methodist students, who threw down their books and took up rifles, to answer the President's call for men to crush the Hun, are to be given financial aid, in resuming their courses of study.

Special allotments, to defray expenses of the men as they are released from service, have been made under the Missionary Centenary survey of Methodism, it was announced at headquarters here.

By July 1, one-half of the Methodist students who went to war, will have been released. Many of them will not be able to take up their courses again without material assistance.

Hundreds of the boys already released are training for Christian service, Dr. Swartz declared. The Centenary has arranged to spend $250,000 on war scholarships for discharged men. In addition nearly $100,000 will be expended for training efficient workers for the advanced program of the Methodist Church and for other reconstruction educational work.

"The new era demands more trained men than ever before and Methodism will do its share in furnishing men of large calibre for big world tasks ahead," Dr. Swartz said.

10,000 Methodists Enlist To Give Tenth Of Income.

Ten thousand members of Methodist Churches in this Area have pledged themselves to give one-tenth of their incomes for worthy relief and evangelistic causes, according to a survey just completed by the Methodist Centenary headquarters at Baltimore. Complete reports yet to be compiled probably will show 5,000 additional tithers, before the Centenary financial campaign reaches its climax May 25.

Records for this Area also have been broken in the number of persons recruited for active service along various lines of church activity. Definite pledges for intercession were signed by nearly 30,000 members. About 3,000 joined in the movement for life service. Campaigns along these lines have been so successful that they are believed to be a happy omen for the great financial drive throughout Methodism for assembling dollars for the greatest work ever undertaken by the church.

World Must Choose Between Anarchy And Democracy.

Bishop Lewis Discussed Disturbed World Conditions.

"Thrones are disappearing in the melting pot of the new age and the followers of Christ must see that Christian democracies take their places."

Bishop Wilson S. Lewis, of Shanghai, China, made this declaration in a stirring address in Baltimore before a gathering of Methodist clergymen and laymen.

"Methodism, viewing the chaos in the path of war, faces the question whether or not the world's portion shall be anarchy or democracy. Christianity must help give an answer to this question."

Bishop Lewis declared that the Centenary program projected by the Methodist Episcopal Church, is the means by which the church will make its contribution to democracy, in a program of Christianization, through evangelism, medical missions and education.

"The Centenary marks the beginning of a new era in world-wide Christianity," Bishop Lewis said.

"The church of Jesus Christ is being tested as never before in its history. The question that burns upon our hearts is 'Who will survive in this testing hour?'

The church that finds the fulfillment of her life in responding to the need of all men as that need is revealed in the face of Jesus Christ will live to bless and glorify the race that is to be.

"Islam is a thing of the past. Buddha's utter weakness is being exposed. Brahmanism has lost its power and even the ethics of Confucianism no longer hold dominion. In the flames of unquenchable fire the thing that is worth while is being revealed.

"The dynamic of the new age gathered strength in the cloud of the world's great battle. The war visualized sacrifice. It was a Gethsemane in action. In the blood and dust of the conflict, moral forces and purposes were sending their roots deep down in the heart of the race.

As a practical proof of its intention to help the laboring man the Methodist Episcopal Church in its $105,000,000 Centenary program allots more than $1,800,000 for social, educational and religious work in rural industrial communities alone, besides the millions to be spent among city workers.

Turned From Friend.

The revolving floor in one of the dancing cabarets mystified two young lieutenants just back from France and evidently strangers in New York. They were ushered to a table on the revolving floor. Shortly afterward one of the soldiers went to the telephone booth; emerging about ten minutes later, he looked around in dazed fashion, and made several starts for the spot where he had apparently left his companion, but couldn't seem to find him. "Say, there," he huskily remarked to the head waiter. "Lend me one of your boy scouts to help me find my chow table, will you?" "What's the trouble?" inquired the headwaiter solicitously. "I left m' friend at a table over yonder by the post," answered the bewildered soldier, "and now he's disappeared." As there were a number of men in uniform present the head waiter suggested that the friend be paged. "That's the idea," eagerly responded the soldier. "His name's Kennedy." And in a short time the messmates were re-united. Then the existence of the revolving floor was briefly explained to them.—New York Sun.
